

Newsletter issued by Forensic Nursing, Inc.

Talking Points

JANUARY / FEBRUARY 2011

Mary Jane Barrett, M.S., R.N.

Nurse Consultant

Certified Case Manager

Certified Legal Nurse Consultant

Certified Medical Investigator III

Reason says, "I will beguile him
with the tongue;"

Love says, "Be silent. I will beguile him with the soul."

--Rumi-- born 1207 on the Eastern shores of the Persian Empire

13 O'Brien Avenue
Whitefish, MT 59937
Phone: (406) 257-8658
Fax: (406) 257-8553
email:
mjb@mjnurse.com

○ Romeo, romeo, wherefore art thou Romeo?

Get her in the mood with coffee... ..

Men have long tried to seduce women by plying them with alcohol. A new study suggests men might have better luck if they buy them a double espresso instead. Researchers at Southwestern University found that when they gave 108 female rats a big jolt of caffeine, they became very receptive to the overtures of male rats. Scientists aren't sure why, but believe that caffeine stimulates a region of the brain involved with sexual motivation. One caveat: Since rats generally don't drink cappuccino, they'd never had caffeine before, so it's possible that the Viagra effect would not be as powerful among women who drink coffee every day. "In humans," psychologist Fay Guarraci tells Livescience.com, "it might enhance the sexual experience only among people who are not habitual users."

--Confidential intelligence briefing-The Week 2010

What is the world's most beautiful work of art?

Michelangelo's statue of David is so beautiful, an Italian psychiatrist reports, it causes some people to become unhinged. Dr. Graziella Magherini, a prominent psychiatrist in Florence, studied the reactions of visitors to the statue of David over a ten year period.

Which men are least likely to CHEAT?

If women want a faithful husband, they should marry someone with a big gut. A new study has found that thin men are more than twice as likely to cheat on their partners as men who are overweight. German researchers interviewed 1,000 men between 31 & 69 about their sexual appetites & practices, & discovered that 23% of normal-weight men confessed they'd cheat on their wives or girlfriends. But just 11% of overweight men expressed any interest in affairs. Researcher S. Rusch says the fat men's low self-esteem was probably partly---but not wholly---responsible. Fat men, Rusch said, were also less likely to visit prostitutes. That suggests that fat men's lack of exercise, poor diet, and overall lower level of health make them less interested in "the challenge of sexual adventure."

--Confidential intelligence briefing-The Week 2010

MOONSTRUCK [adjective]

The adjective MOONSTRUCK has 1 sense:

1. Insane & believed to be affected by the phases of the moon

---AudioEnglish.net

VENUS [Roman mythology]

Venus was a Roman goddess principally associated with love, beauty & fertility, who played a key role in many Roman religious festivals & myths. From the third century BC, she was identified as the equivalent of the Greek goddess Aphrodite.

APHRODITE [Greek mythology]

Aphrodite was the Greek goddess of love, beauty & sexual rapture.

CUPID.....in Roman mythology is Love's Messenger.